Dear IVC Faculty,

Here at Irvine Valley College, safety is at the top of all our minds. We are more committed than ever to provide a safe environment that promotes student access, academic achievement, social justice, and inclusion. We have provided this handbook to help you in your endeavors both in and out of the classroom. We also strive to provide a safe educational environment by offering safety training workshops that provide internal as well as external resources to connect you with a service or person that can address your concern. Your safety and the safety of our students, staff, and administrators is of the utmost importance.

The district has Board Policies and Administrative Regulations in place to protect students and employees in connection with all its academic, educational, extracurricular, and athletic programs. Per BP 4000.5, the district is committed to providing an academic and work environment that respects the dignity of all individuals and groups. The more we become familiar with our policies, regulations, and resources, the better we will be able to handle crisis situations.

Thank you for taking the time to review this training document and become more familiar with the many resources we have on campus. We also have chosen to include a number of community resources beginning on page 39 that can help you prepare for emergencies that might befall the college. Should you have any questions, the following individuals lead our emergency response teams on campus:

Dr. Linda Fontanilla, Vice President for Student Services, Title IX Coordinator, (949) 451-5624
Dr. Elizabeth Cipres, Dean, Counseling Services, Discipline Officer, Title IX Deputy Officer, (949) 451-5410
John Meyer, IVC Chief of Police, Title IX Deputy Officer, (949) 451-5501

Resources are available online as well. In 2015, the district implemented Advocate software for reporting and tracking incidents of Student Code of Conduct violations. Additional information on how to access Advocate can be found on page 31.

Please join me in pooling our efforts to keep our campus safe. It takes all of us to help our students in distress and prevent unsafe incidents from occurring both in and out of the classroom. For further information, please contact the Office of the Vice President for Student Services by emailing lfontanilla@ivc.edu or calling 949-451-5624.

Sincerely,

Linda M. Fontanilla
Vice President for Student Services
INTRODUCTION TO THE FACULTY GUIDE

Most students attend Irvine Valley College without emotional or behavioral problems that influence their own academic success or that negatively impact other students' learning. However, a small number of our students do display distressing behaviors – an even smaller number exhibit disruptive behavior in classrooms, lab areas, offices, field sites and other educational settings, or via electronic means. The behavioral symptoms and problems discussed in this guide are not unique to Irvine Valley College. Rather, they are reflective of a national trend where the rate of overall classroom disturbances in both two-year and four-year colleges and universities has increased in the last decade.

This manual offers specific guidance and practical advice should you need to respond to students who are distressed, disruptive or threatening. In the following pages, you will find:

- Guidelines for establishing expectations for conduct in all educational settings, including in the classroom, with on-line classes and electronic communications, in laboratory learning, and with student travel related to field trips and excursions;
- Information on identifying and responding to distressed students;
- Directions for identifying and responding to disruptive students;
- Instruction in identifying and responding to threatening or potentially violent students;
- An outline of the student discipline procedure, and
- Important information regarding students with disabilities, student complaints about other students, students who are minors, and student records access.

Questions about this manual may be directed to the Vice President for Student Services at (949) 451-5624.
IRVINE VALLEY COLLEGE STANDARDS

SECTIONS

A. Establishing Expectations for Classroom Conduct
B. Establishing Expectations for On-Line Classes Conduct and Electronic Communications
C. Establishing Expectations for Laboratory/Workshop Learning
D. Establishing Expectations for Travel – Field Trips & Excursions

Students at Irvine Valley College are responsible for their conduct and for respecting the rights and privileges of others in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct set by the SOCCCD Board of Trustees (AR 5401) (Appendix A). Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner compatible with the function of the college as an educational institution, and to respect and obey all civil and criminal laws. Failure to show respect for the standards as set forth by Irvine Valley College is cause for disciplinary action.

As an instructor, you have the responsibility, authority and obligation for establishing appropriate, acceptable academic and behavioral standards for students — in the classroom, in class-related interactions outside of the classroom, and with online communications. The standards you set influence the overall learning environment, as well as how students interact with each other and with you.

A learning environment that incorporates specific academic and behavioral expectations supports students in their intellectual and personal growth while also contributing to each person’s sense of safety and well-being.

A. Establishing Expectations for Classroom Conduct

All faculty members are required to prepare a syllabus for each specific class section. In addition to the course outline, the syllabus is where the instructor may define the expected classroom rules of conduct. Communicate your expectations at the beginning of each semester, as well as throughout the semester when needed. Imposing new standards and policies on students after the semester has begun is very difficult.

Examples of behaviors that can be addressed in your syllabus might include:

- Intimidation or harassing behavior
- Inappropriate, disrespectful, or uncivil responses to the comments or opinions of others in the classroom or electronically transmitted
- Physical threats or challenges (even when stated in joking manner)
- Obscene or profane language in classroom or transmitted electronically
- Excessive talking
- Late arrival to or departure from class without permission
- Use of cell phones, pagers, or other electronic devices
- Refusal to comply with instructor’s direction

B. Establishing Expectations for Online Class Conduct and Electronic Communication

The number of students taking online and distance learning classes has increased, as has the use of electronic communication tools such as Blackboard. With this increase in use comes an avenue for disruptive, threatening or other inappropriate behaviors. Students may make comments electronically that they would not make in person-to-person classroom contacts. Faculty members must establish expectations for students during online and distance classes, and through electronic communications, just as they would for on-campus class meetings.

SOCCCD Administrative Regulation 4000.2 (Appendix B) specifies the rules and regulations for electronic communications. It is recommended that specific language regarding expectations for electronic communication be included on the syllabus for the course.
Included below are sample excerpts from syllabi used in online courses:

- Keep in mind that all electronic interaction (e-mail, chats, discussion forums, etc.) are an extension of our classroom and should be treated as such.
- NEVER log on to discussion board or other on-line class activities using the password or identity of another student.
- DO NOT enter a chat room, send an email, or participate in an online discussion under an alias, a false name, or as "anonymous." This is an important rule that everyone must follow so that we may maintain a safe academic environment.
- Remember, it is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct to submit on-line work that was prepared totally or in part by another, or to permit someone else to take an on-line test for you. These violations of the Student Code of Conduct are cause for disciplinary action.

Violations of AR-400.2 can result in revocation of the student’s access to the electronic communications network for up to six months, in addition to other disciplinary measures.

For questions related to distance learning classes, refer to Appendix A (Student Code of Conduct) for specific guidelines.

C. Establishing Expectations for Laboratory/Workshop Learning

Many courses are taught in a studio, workshop, or theater setting (e.g., Theatre Technical Production, Video Production). Others require that students enroll in a laboratory or workshop section in addition to the main class (anatomy, chemistry, language classes). Laboratory learning is designed to enhance and provide practice in skills learned in class, and to provide hands-on study of material presented by the instructor. In many instances, the laboratory or workshop experience is taught or supervised by someone other than the instructor (e.g., a teaching assistant). It is important that academic and behavioral expectations are outlined in the syllabus, and are consistent with in-class expectations.

Clear expectations for behavior in a laboratory setting might include, but are not limited to:

- Information on proper use and care of equipment (e.g., computers, machinery, specimens, chemicals, stage props).
- Directions for insuring the safety of the individual student, as well as the safety of other students.
- Dress code information, if applicable.
- Specific directions and restrictions for computer use (e.g., how to log in and out, time restrictions).
- Instructions regarding food and beverages.
- Restrictions on cell phone, texting, laptops, and other electronic devices.
- Limitations on computer use (e.g., no social networking, no homework for other classes, no internet browsing).
- Restrictions on bringing friends or family members to lab.
- Expectations regarding conversations and talking between students.
D. Establishing Expectations for Travel - Field Trips & Excursions

Academic field trips are components of regularly scheduled classes designed to provide experiences connected with specific elements of the course curriculum. Excursions are also trips connected with a course but which require at least one overnight stay.

Students participating in college-sponsored field trips and excursions are expected to conform to the same standards of behavior as published in the Student Code of Conduct (Appendix A). Any violation of the Code of Conduct or of local, state, or federal laws may result in disciplinary action or sanctions by the college.

All field trips and excursions should be clearly identified in the course syllabus at the beginning of the term. Prior to a field trip or excursion, faculty members should provide written expectations for student behavior during the activity, including transit to and from the location(s). These expectations might include, but are not limited to:

• No alcoholic beverages or chemical substances, except personal prescription medication, are permitted.
• Students’ parents, spouses, partners, siblings, and/or children may not participate.
• No pets are permitted to participate (except licensed service animals).
• Details related to appropriate dress, if applicable.
• Expectations about fraternizing and personal conduct during any "free time."
• Restriction on smoking in vehicles transporting students.

Advise students of the consequences of non-compliance and take the appropriate action if you become aware that a student is in violation.
IDENTIFYING AND REFERRING A DISTRESSED STUDENT

SECTIONS
A. The Student in Crisis
B. Identifying Distressed Students
C. Responding to Distressed Students
D. Referring Distressed Students for Counseling

Most Irvine Valley College students progress through their academic careers without serious emotional difficulties. However, in the contemporary climate of competition and pressure, some students find that stress becomes unmanageable and their distress interferes with their learning. In extreme cases, these students may develop crises or possibly disrupt the learning of others. Many of these students seek assistance from faculty or staff, while others remain isolated and alone with their problems.

A. The Student in Crisis

A psychological crisis is a life event that one perceives as stressful and during which normal coping mechanisms are insufficient. Most crisis situations require immediate or same day attention. Examples of crises situations include:

- Experience of a traumatic event (e.g., sexual assault, witnessing a fatal accident)
- Death of a loved one, family member or friend
- Extreme sadness, depression, panic or anxiety
- Thoughts of self-harm or suicide, or of harming someone else
- Thoughts of harming someone else
- Experience of odd, bizarre or intrusive thoughts

B. Identifying distressed students

Because of your daily interactions with students, you are in a unique position to recognize those who may be distressed. A distressed student's behavior, especially if it is inconsistent with your previous observations, might be a "cry for help." Your ability to recognize the signs of emotional distress, coupled with your courage to acknowledge such concerns directly to the student, are often noted by students as the most significant factor in their successful problem resolution.

The following behaviors have been identified as the most commonly observed signs of distress among college students. This list is not intended to be comprehensive. You may occasionally meet students who have other behaviors that concern you.

- Misses classes and assignments; infrequent class attendance with little or no work completed
- Excessive procrastination and very poorly prepared work, especially if inconsistent with previous work
- Dependency (e.g., the student who hangs around or makes excessive appointments during office hours)
- Repeated requests for special consideration (e.g., deadline extensions)
- Falling asleep in class, listlessness, lack of energy
- Marked changes in personal hygiene; disheveled appearance
- Impaired speech and/or disjointed thoughts
- Marked isolation; alienation from other students (e.g., not welcomed to join classroom group experiences)
- Expressed suicidal thoughts
- Excessive weight gain or loss
- Highly anxious, overly nervous, tense or tearful
- Frequent or high levels of irritable, unruly, abrasive, or aggressive behavior
- Unable to make decisions despite your repeated efforts to clarify or encourage
- Behavior which regularly interferes with effective class management
- Bizarre behavior that is obviously inappropriate for the situation (e.g., talking to something/someone that is not present)
- Dangerous behavior (e.g., obvious signs of cutting or burning on body)
- Under the influence of alcohol or drugs

C. Responding to distressed students

Openly acknowledging to students that you are aware of their distress, that you are sincerely concerned about their welfare, and that you are willing to help them explore their alternatives, can have a profound effect. You are encouraged, whenever possible, to speak directly and honestly to students when you sense that they are experiencing academic or personal distress.

Directions for responding to a distressed student:

DO
• Request to see the student in private.
• Briefly acknowledge your observations and perceptions of the situation, expressing your concerns honestly and directly.
• Listen carefully to what is troubling the student. Let the student "blow off steam," if necessary. Often this conversation alone relieves distress.
• Acknowledge that you understand the student's problem. Clarify by asking questions to get a clear picture of the problem.
• Identify the key areas of concern and confirm these with the student.
• Explore alternatives for addressing the problem. Offer resources and referrals (e.g., Student Health and Wellness Center counseling, Counseling Center, Financial Aid, Campus Police).
• Involve yourself only as far as you want to go and are comfortable. Remember, you are not expected to be a mental health expert.

DON'T
• Ignore the situation.
• Minimize the student’s feelings (e.g., "Don’t worry." "Everything will be better tomorrow."
• Be afraid to ask the student if he/she is suicidal.
• Take responsibility for the student’s emotional state.
• Bombard the student with "fix it" solutions or advice.
• Chastise the student for poor or incomplete work.
• Challenge or agree with any mistaken or illogical beliefs.
• Be afraid to seek consultation if you need it.

D. Referring Distressed Students for Counseling
Irvine Valley College has an onsite Student Health Center where students can receive free, confidential psychotherapy. Additionally, Counseling Services & Special Programs offers free, limited counseling, usually in conjunction with academic counseling. Psychological counseling is intended to be short-term and focused on acute care intervention. Students who require long-term psychotherapy and/or whose conditions are outside the prescribed scope of the college health care system are provided with immediate crisis intervention and stabilization, and then referred to appropriate off-campus agencies for further treatment.

IDENTIFYING AND RESPONDING TO A DISRUPTIVE STUDENT

SECTION
A. Identifying Disruptive Students
B. Responding to Disruptive Students
1. Give a warning
2. Seek consultation
3. Removal from class by the instructor
4. Seek a voluntary class withdrawal

Disruptive students interfere with the instructor’s ability to teach and/or other students’ ability to learn. Instructors and students have the right to expect nothing less than adult behavior from everyone in the classroom. A disruptive student can display inappropriate behavior in a variety of ways and levels of intensity. While some of these behaviors are more dangerous than others, any one of them can derail a class.

A. Identifying disruptive students

Common examples of classroom disruption include, but are not limited to:

- Using electronic equipment for phone calls, text messaging, music, and/or emails while class is in session; cell phone going off during class
- Sleeping in class
- Talking without permission or while the instructor is talking (e.g., side conversations with other students or in a group); talking before being recognized by the instructor; interrupting discussions
- "Grandstanding" for attention (e.g., using classroom discussion to talk about irrelevant subjects; telling tales of one’s personal life with no regard to relevancy to the class discussion)
- Excessive and persistent tardiness, especially on test dates; entering class late and continuing to talk to friends
- Creating excessive noise from packing up before class has ended
- Reading a newspaper or book; doing homework from another class
- Leaving before class is dismissed and without prior permission from instructor
- Leaving class to retrieve snack or beverage items; eating in class; gum chewing
- Dressing inappropriately so that other students or instructor are distracted (e.g., wearing pajamas, indecent exposure, offensive words on clothing)
- Passing notes to other students

B. Responding to disruptive students

A number of factors, such as the severity and frequency of a student’s misconduct, influence the action that might be appropriate to a specific instance of disruptive behavior. Thus, the following measures do not constitute a fixed procedure that must be followed in each instance. Rather, these strategies should be pursued based on your own assessment of their suitability to the situation with which you are dealing.
1. Give a warning

A rare instance of rude, annoying, or irritating behavior could simply be a sign of a student's immaturity or lack of familiarity with campus culture. However, recurrent acts of disruptive behavior should be addressed in a direct manner. When disruptive behavior first becomes evident, consider reminding the entire class of the need to follow the applicable standard. If the disruption involves a behavior that has not been previously addressed, take the time to communicate your expectations.

Tips for responding to disruptive students:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>DO</th>
<th>DON'T</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Ask the student to remain after class for a conversation or to schedule a meeting.</td>
<td>• Ignore the situation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Discuss the disruptive behavior, clarify your expectations regarding standards of behavior and academic performance.</td>
<td>• Avoid the situation as an alternative to setting and enforcing limits and boundaries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• State the consequences of failing to make necessary adjustments (e.g., removal from class by the instructor, referral to the Dean, Counseling Services).</td>
<td>• Do not meet alone with any student you believe to be a threat to your personal safety.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Make a written record of the meeting.</td>
<td>• Make allowances for the student's disruptive behavior.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• If the meeting concerned a serious incident, send an email or letter to the student summarizing the conversation (e.g., identifying the disruptive behavior, redefining the classroom expectations, and stating the consequences if the disruptive behavior continues).</td>
<td>• Give special considerations (e.g., extensions on missed assignments).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Take any responsibility for the student’s behavior.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Allow the student to derail the meeting with complaints about the class or other students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Be cute or humorous.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Be ambiguous.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Flatter or participate in the student’s &quot;games.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

2. Seek consultation

Even when there is no threat of harm, you may find it helpful to involve your department Chairperson, or Dean when meeting with a student to discuss unacceptable classroom behavior. The Vice President for Student Services and Dean, Counseling Services is also available for consultation. The added perspective of a campus official will serve to reinforce the importance of your standards and to keep the conversation focused on behaviors rather than personalities.

3. Removal from class by the instructor

On a rare occasion, a student’s conduct may be so seriously disruptive or threatening that immediate action is required. An instructor may remove a student from class for the day of the incident and the next class meeting for any of the causes set forth in the SOCCCD Student Code of Conduct (see Appendix A). Although permanent removal from a class requires initiation of formal disciplinary proceeding, faculty can remove a student from a single class when necessary to end a seriously disruptive or threatening situation.

• Begin by firmly warning the student that the behavior must stop or he/she will be asked to leave class. If the behavior persists, direct the student to leave for the remainder of the class session. During the period of suspension, the student may not return to the class without the concurrence of the instructor.
• If a student refuses to leave class when directed, use the classroom phone to call the Irvine Valley College Campus Police Department (press phone soft key labeled “IVC Campus Police”) for assistance. If necessary, temporarily adjourn the class and call Campus Police. An Officer will be dispatched to your location and, at your request, will remove the student. Please cooperate with the Officer in making a report of the incident.

It is very important you immediately report any removal to the following individuals:

• You must immediately report the removal to the Dean, Counseling Services by calling (949) 451-5410. The Dean will take appropriate actions. The Dean will answer any questions you have about proceeding with the student after the incident. The plan can include a conversation between the student and the Dean, Counseling Services which will focus on the conditions for the student’s return to class, strategies the student can pursue to participate appropriately in class, and the consequences of further disruptive behavior.

• You must complete the Public Incident Report form in Advocate immediately after a student has been removed from class. This form is located at https://socccd-advocate.symplicity.com/public_report/. Immediately report any removal to your department chairperson.

4. Seek a voluntary course withdrawal

Students cannot be involuntarily withdrawn from a course except as provided by existing SOCCCD policy (consult the Faculty Handbook) or through use of the student discipline procedures (Appendix E). In some cases, a student’s withdrawal from a course provides the most expeditious way to end disruptive behavior and its corresponding conflict.

Withdrawals are most appropriate when there is a genuine personal conflict that cannot be resolved, and when any necessary administrative approvals have been secured in advance. Students will often respond negatively when they believe they have been given an ultimatum to withdraw from a class. If necessary, enlist the assistance of your department chairperson, academic dean, or the Vice President for Student Services to facilitate the student’s withdrawal.
IDENTIFYING AND RESPONDING TO A
THREATENING OR POTENTIALLY VIOLENT STUDENT

SECTIONS

A. Identifying Threatening or Potentially Violent Students
B. Emergency Situations
C. Situations Requiring Consultation
D. Meeting with a Threatening or Potentially Violent Student

While faculty and staff are not expected to formally assess the potential danger of students, it is important to be aware of factors that might indicate an elevated risk of threat or violence.

A. Identifying Threatening or Potentially Violent Students

The following behaviors have been identified as threatening or potentially violent:
- Carrying, displaying or brandishing a weapon
- Implying or making a direct threat of suicide or harm to others
- Cursing or extremely loud talking directed at a particular person
- Intimidating through body gestures and/or posture; persistent staring at an instructor or student
- Confrontational, angry, restless or agitated behavior
- Sending threatening emails, letters, or other correspondence to instructor, students or staff
- Engaging in abusive or mean-spirited criticism of the instructor or another student; threatening another student, an instructor or staff member on social media
- Aggressively questioning the instructor’s authority, judgment or expertise in front of the class
- Violating others’ personal space
- Continuing to insist on speaking with the instructor during classroom instruction
- Bizarre behavior (e.g., talking to someone that is not present)

B. Emergency Situations

If you need immediate assistance in response to a threat to your safety or the safety of others, contact Irvine Valley College Campus Police by:

Dialing x5234 from any campus telephone
OR
Pressing the “IVC Campus Police” soft key from a phone located in an instructional classroom
OR
Dialing 911 if you are using a cell phone or are off campus
OR
Pressing the red “Emergency” Button on any of the blue emergency call stations on campus.

Irvine Valley College maintains a Campus Police Department with sworn police officers available 24-hours a day, 7 days a week. A campus police officer can be immediately dispatched to your campus location in the event of an emergency.

After the emergency has been resolved by the Campus Police, make the following reports:
- Immediately report the situation to the Vice President for Student Services at (949) 451-5214.
C. Situations requiring consultation

If you are uncertain, concerned or need consultation about a student who is disruptive, threatening, or inappropriate in any educational setting, or who shows signs of emotional distress or mental illness, contact:

   Dean, Counseling Services
   (949) 451-5410
   or
   Vice President for Student Services
   (949) 451-5214

The Dean, Counseling Services will assess the situation, make appropriate referrals and take necessary steps to insure the safety and well-being of everyone on campus.

The Dean, Counseling Services also answers questions about whether a student’s disruptive behavior is to be addressed under the Student Code of Conduct, and whether the behavior is subject to disciplinary action.

After hours, contact the Irvine Valley College Campus Police at (949) 451-5234. A dispatcher will have an on-call staff person contact you.
D. Meeting with a threatening or potentially violent student

DO
- Arrange a specific appointment to meet with the student.
- Alert a colleague or your department chairperson about the meeting. Have a colleague ready to assist, if necessary.
- Have an Irvine Valley College Campus Police Officer on “standby” outside your office or with you in your office, as circumstances dictate.
- Establish a code word to be used within your department that would serve as a signal to others to dial x5234 (Campus Police Department emergency line) for immediate, emergency assistance.
- Keep the door of your office open.
- Position yourself so that you can exit the room quickly, if necessary. For example, keep yourself between the student and the door.
- Terminate the session immediately if you sense something is wrong.
- Avoid body language that appears challenging.
- Slow down your rate of speech and use a low pitch and volume to reduce the momentum of the situation.
- Ask to include your department chairperson to help satisfy the agitated student’s need to be heard.
- As early in the meeting as possible, elicit the student’s goal for the meeting and state your goal. Negotiation of a common goal may be a useful approach to keeping the student focused.
- Listen carefully by really paying attention to what is said. Let the student know you will help within your ability to do so and within reason.
- Ask clarifying questions to maintain control of the conversation and to understand the situation.

   3. Suspension
   4. Expulsion

A full text of the SOCCCD Administrative Regulations: Disciplinary Procedures (AR-5410) is available on the District’s website.

A. Filing a student incident report in Advocate

- Any faculty or staff member can file a complaint alleging a violation of the Student Code of Conduct by completing the Public Incident Report in Advocate located at: https://socccd-advocate.symplicity.com/public_report/.
- Upon submission, you will receive a confirmation email to the email address that you have entered on the report form.
- Submitted reports are viewed by the campus’ Discipline Officer (the Dean, Counseling Services) and the Vice President for Student Services.

If the conduct occurred in the classroom, the instructor may remove the student from his/her class for that day and the next class meeting if the student interfered with the instructional process. During the period of removal, the student shall not return to the class from which he/she was removed without the concurrence of the instructor and scheduling a discipline hearing with the Dean, Counseling Services.

B. Initiation of the disciplinary process

The Dean, Counseling Services initiates formal disciplinary action against a student. Upon review of the Advocate report, a determination is made as to whether or not there is sufficient information to suggest a Code of Conduct violation. If there is evidence of a violation, the following procedures will be followed:

1. The student is contacted by the office of the Dean, Counseling Services and a discipline hearing is scheduled.
2. The student is provided with an opportunity to respond to the allegations. If the student elects not to attend this meeting, a discipline hold is placed on the student’s records.
3. The Dean, Counseling Services reviews all of the documentation and determines if further disciplinary action is required. If further action is taken, it is immediately in effect.
4. The student may elect to drop the course. Dropping the course will not terminate the disciplinary process.

C. Range of disciplinary actions

The following disciplinary actions are available/possible:

1. Verbal reprimand: A warning that the conduct is not acceptable.
2. Written reprimand: Becomes part of the student file for a minimum of five years or longer, and is considered in the event of future violations.
3. Mental health clearance: May be required before a student is readmitted to a particular class or allowed to return to district property. The campus chief administrative officer (or designee) must receive a letter from a licensed mental health professional stating that in his or her professional judgment, the student will no longer continue the behavior which gave rise to the disciplinary action or that the student’s presence on campus is not a threat to himself or herself or others. The mental health professional must be licensed by the State of California. The student shall bear the cost and expense of obtaining mental health clearance.

4. Disciplinary probation: A specific period, during which the student may be restricted from certain campus activities, which may involve any or all of the following:
   a. Ineligibility for all student government roles;
   b. Removal from any student government position;
   c. Revocation of the privilege of participating in district and/or student-sponsored activities;
   d. Ineligibility for membership on an athletic team;
   e. Limitation of courses and/or instructors the student may take;

5. Suspension: The student may be removed from one or more classes for the remainder of the school term, and/or may be removed from all classes and activities of the SOCCCD for one or more terms. During this time, a hearing is conducted by the Disciplinary Hearing Panel.

6. Expulsion: The Board of Trustees may expel a student when other means of correction fail to bring about proper conduct, or when the presence of the student causes a continuing danger to the physical safety of the student or others. Expulsion is accompanied by a hearing that is conducted by the Disciplinary Hearing Panel.

The student may appeal a formal disciplinary decision. The appeal must be submitted in writing to the Vice President for Student Services, within ten days of the decision/recommendation. The Vice President for Student Services reviews the appeal and makes a decision available to the student within ten days of receipt of appeal.
SPECIAL ISSUES

SECTIONS

A. Disruptions Caused by Students with Disabilities
B. Student Complaints about Students
C. Students Who Are Minors
D. Student Records Access

A. Disruptions caused by students with disabilities

All students, including those who have a disability, are expected to adhere to the Student Code of Conduct. If you believe a student is genuinely experiencing difficulty with inappropriate behavior because of a disabbling condition, you may contact Disabled Students Programs & Services (DSPS) at (949) 451-5630. If your concern involves an immediate threat of health or safety, contact the Irvine Valley College Campus Police Department at (949) 451-5234 or the Health and Wellness Center at (949) 451-5221.

A disabling condition does not constitute an acceptable excuse for violating the Student Code of Conduct. Your decision to initiate a complaint against a student should be based on the student's behavior and not his/her disability.

B. Student complaints about students

When students report classroom or electronic misconduct that you did not witness, they should to go Advocate and file a Public Incident Report: https://socccd-advocate.symplicity.com/public_report/.

Students may independently initiate a complaint against another student for violation of the Student Code of Conduct. Students do not have to discuss or review their complaint with anyone.

C. Students who are minors

Irvine Valley College enrolls a large number of dependent minor students through the Special Admission Program for K-12 Students. It is very important to understand that when a minor becomes a student at any college, all rights afforded to parents under Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) transfer to the student. In essence, parents or guardians do not have the right to inspect a student's records or gain access to information related to their attendance at Irvine Valley College.

At Irvine Valley College, any student may access their college records online through MySite. In that way, students have the ability to share enrollment or grade information with their parents/guardians if they choose to do so.

It is the policy of Irvine Valley College that all students act on their own behalf. Persons other than the student, including parents and guardians, are not permitted to enroll, add/drop classes, request transcripts, submit forms or records on behalf of the student.

Minor students and their parents/guardians must also understand that they are entering a college environment that is designed with adults in mind. Therefore, the atmosphere of the campus in general, and of the classrooms in particular, will frequently reflect an adult population. Minor students and their parents should be aware that:

- Courses may have open discussions about sensitive topics.
- Audio-visual presentations may be graphic in their content.
- Students may be exposed to vulgar language outside of the classroom.
- Instructors cannot sit with underage students while they wait for their ride.
D. Student records access

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and Irvine Valley College policy protect information contained in student records. Except as permitted by law, students must provide written authorization for release of information in their student record to a third party, including matters of student discipline. Additionally, the content of student records cannot be released to any Irvine Valley College faculty or staff member who does not have a legitimate need to know the information as a result of his/her official duties.

With few exceptions, students have the right to access most of their own records (including email correspondence) in which they are identified by name or by other distinguishing characteristics such as student identification number or social security number. Therefore, it is important that you draft all written correspondence as though the student will eventually gain access to it. (Note: Such access does not extend to your personal notes that are only available for your personal use.)

FERPA generally does not prevent the college from releasing student information when necessary in responding to serious health and safety concerns, and to protect the health and safety of other individuals. Therefore, FERPA does not prohibit an instructor, administrator, or other school official from letting a parent, police officer, or other school official know of his/her concern about a student that is based on personal knowledge or observation.

General questions concerning FERPA and student record release practices should be directed to the Admissions and Records Office at (949) 451-5220 or in Student Services Center, 1st Floor.

Questions concerning student discipline record release practices should be directed to the Vice President for Student Services at (949) 451-5214.

APPENDIX B:
Guidelines for Electronic Communications
(AR-4000.2)

URL:

This administrative regulation is intended to inform all users (employees, students and guests) of the South Orange County Community College District of the rules regarding use of the District’s digital information network. The digital information network consists of District owned equipment such as computers, computer networks, electronic mail and voice mail systems, internet services, audio and video conferencing, and related electronic peripherals like cellular telephones, modems and facsimile machines. The digital information network is owned by the District and is to be used for District-related activities only. If District employees, students or guests interface personally-owned equipment with the District network, they will be required to adhere to District policies and regulations.

A. Permitted Uses of the District Digital Information Network

Use of the digital information network is intended to enhance the availability of educational materials and opportunities for employees, students and guests. Therefore, students and faculty may only use the network for educational and work-related purposes. Guests in the Saddleback and Irvine Valley College Libraries may use the system on a limited basis with specific prior authorization from library staff and for educational and/or work related purposes only. Guests must present identification to library staff for authorization and guest usage must not preclude student use.

1. Guests and students are permitted access through open workstations provided by the District at multiple locations, including on campus and in classroom/laboratory environments.
2. Employees are provided access through the above, or through assigned District-owned computers.
3. Connection of privately owned computer equipment to campus wireless network is permitted.
4. Connection of privately owned computer equipment to the network by physical (cable) or wireless means is permitted when authorized by an administrator of one of the technology organizations at the college or the District to ensure compatibility of equipment. Such authorizations will be in written form issued by a systems administrator indicating the person(s) is/are authorized to use personal equipment, and other relevant network information assigned to the equipment in order to enable use on the network.

B. User Responsibilities

Users shall not access information contained in restricted data bases, files, and information banks, without permission from authorized District staff.

Personal passwords/account codes will be created and issued to users to protect employees and students. Users agree to represent themselves according to their true and accurate identities in all electronic messages, files, and transactions. These passwords/account codes shall not be shared with others, nor shall employees or students use another party’s password/account code except in the authorized maintenance and monitoring of the network. The maintenance of strict control of passwords and account codes protects employees and students from wrongful accusation of misuse of electronic resources. If a communication is authored out of a password-protected system, the presumption will be that the owner of the password authored it.

Users have no right to privacy in any material on the network and /or e-mail system. The District reserves the right to monitor network and e-mail use for any business reason, including for the purpose of determining whether a violation of Board policy, administrative regulation, or law has occurred, and reserves the right to remove any materials or information found to be in violation of Board policy, administrative regulation, or law. In addition, the District must perform necessary maintenance of the digital information network which may also require access to information in user files, or files in the system which contains personal data.

C. Prohibited Uses

Use of the digital information network is a privilege and not a right of any employee, or student member, and that privilege may be modified or revoked at any time by the District for violation of District policy or administrative regulations, or any violation of law. Prohibited uses which will result in revocation of user privileges and may result in additional action taken by the District as necessary and appropriate include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Communicating any information concerning any password, user account, personal identification number or confidential information protected by law without the permission of its owner or the controlling authority of the computer facility to which it belongs.
2. Forgery of messages and/or alteration of system and/or user data used to identify the sender of messages.
3. Using District communication systems to solicit or conduct non-work related business.
4. Fundraising of any kind, except fundraising by faculty or staff that is work related.
5. Retrieving, viewing, or disseminating any material in violation of any federal or state regulation or District policy. This can include, but is not limited to, improper use of copyrighted material and improper use of passwords or access codes.
6. Damage, theft, or alteration of system hardware or software.
7. Disconnecting or otherwise tampering with District owned computers or network equipment and connections.
8. Connecting privately owned computers or other network capable devices to the network without appropriate authorization as specified from the system administrator.
9. Using any device to monitor, discover, or otherwise ascertain (i.e., "sniffing" or "hacking") information regarding network operations not intended for public knowledge or consumption.
10. Placement of unlawful information, computer viruses, or harmful programs on or through the computer system.
11. Entry into restricted information on systems or network files in violation of password/account code restrictions.
12. Interfering with the rights of others to use the District's systems.
13. Displaying images or audio that is obscene, sexually harassing or otherwise violates the District's rules prohibiting harassment.
14. Violating any laws, including but not limited to copyright laws or laws regarding obscenity, or participating in the commission or furtherance of any crime or unlawful activity.
15. Unsolicited email, social networking, streaming audio, streaming video, or multi-player games impose a substantial burden on the system, and are not allowed, with the exception of those services that serve educational or work-related purposes.
16. For Students - Use of the network in furtherance of any violation of the Student Code of Conduct.
17. For Employees – Use of the network in furtherance of any violation of applicable District policies or administrative regulations.
18. Employees or students may not use copyrighted materials without the permission of the copyright holder. The connections represented by the Internet allow users to access a wide variety of media. Even though it is possible to download most of these materials, users shall not create or maintain archived copies of these materials unless the materials are in the public domain (e.g., freeware, shareware, etc.).
D. Incidental Personal Use

Users of a district electronic communications system may use the system for incidental personal purposes for short periods of time, usually consisting of a few minutes per day, provided that such use does not:

1. Directly or indirectly interfere with the District’s operation of electronic communications resources;
2. Interfere with the user’s employment or other obligations of the District;
3. Burden the District with incremental costs; or
4. Violate any of the specific uses described in Paragraph III.

The District is not responsible for any loss or damage incurred by an individual as a result of personal use of District electronic communications resources.

E. Enforcing This Regulation

Due to the open and decentralized design of the Internet and the digital information network, the District cannot protect individuals against receipt of material that may be offensive to them. Likewise, individuals who use email, or those who disclose private information about themselves on the Internet or across the digital information network, should know that the District cannot protect them from invasions of privacy by third parties or other users. The Vice President of Student Services will determine violations by students, the Vice Chancellor of Technology and Learning Services will determine violations by District employees, the Director of Information Technology will determine violations by College employees, and the Dean of Library and Learning Resources will determine violations by guests. These administrators may with the approval of the Chancellor name designees who will perform these functions. District employees and other users may informally resolve unintentional or isolated minor violations of use policies.

1. Student Violations - Individuals may report a suspected violation of this regulation or board policy by a student to the supervisor of the library/laboratory. In turn, the library/laboratory supervisor will contact the Vice President of Student Services or appropriate designee (the “Administrator”). The Administrator shall determine whether a violation of this regulation or of board policy has occurred. If the Administrator determines that a violation has occurred, the Administrator may take action to suspend or revoke the user’s privileges. Thereafter, the Dean, Counseling Services may also submit the matter to the appropriate District department for a determination of whether additional action should be taken. Possible sanctions include the deletion of materials found to be in violation of this regulation or of a board policy, loss of user privileges, student discipline, and other sanctions available within the judicial processes.

2. Employee Violations - Individuals may report a suspected violation of this regulation or board policy by District employees to their supervisor. In turn, the supervisor will notify the appropriate Academic Administrator (Vice Chancellor of Technology and Learning Services) for district employees, Director of Information Technology for college employees or their designee (the “Administrator”). The Administrator shall then determine whether a violation of this regulation or board policy has occurred. If the Administrator determines that a violation has occurred, the Administrator may take immediate action to suspend or revoke the user’s privileges. In the event a user’s privileges are suspended or revoked, the Administrator will provide the user with written notice of the suspension or revocation, and provide a statement of reasons for the action taken. The Administrator may also submit the matter to the appropriate academic or classified staff supervisor or administrator for a determination of whether disciplinary action should be taken pursuant to established District collective bargaining agreements, District policies, administrative regulations, and/or other applicable laws, rules, or procedures.

3. Guest Violations - Individuals may report a suspected violation of this regulation or board policy by a guest to the supervisor of the library/laboratory. In turn, the library/laboratory supervisor will notify the Dean of Library and Learning Resources or designee (the “Administrator”). The Administrator shall then determine whether a violation of this regulation or of board policy has occurred. If the Administrator determines that a violation has occurred, the Administrator may take immediate action to suspend or revoke the user’s privileges. In the event a user’s privileges are suspended or revoked, the Administrator will provide the user with written notice of the suspension or revocation, and provide a statement of reasons for the action taken. If requested by the user, the Administrator will meet with the user within five business days. The Administrator may also submit the matter to the College President for a determination of whether additional action should be taken. Possible sanctions include the deletion of the materials found to be in violation of this regulation or board policy, loss of user privileges, and other sanctions available within the judicial processes.

4. Appeals – Students may appeal imposition of discipline for violation of this policy under the procedures set forth in Administrative Regulation 5401 for student discipline generally. Students may appeal revocation of privileges with regard to the system pursuant to the procedures set forth below. Employees may appeal imposition of discipline and revocation of any privileges pursuant to the procedures under the District’s personnel policies and any applicable collective bargaining agreements.

5. Revocation for Students – Repeated violation of this policy by a student will result in revocation of the student’s access to the electronic communications network for a period not exceeding six months, in addition to any other discipline. Students will be provided three (3) days notice of a decision to revoke privileges. The Administrator will prepare the notice, which will include a statement of the reasons for revocation, of why the action is necessary to enforce the administrative Regulation or other rules or laws, and of the student’s rights under this section. A student may appeal the decision by submitting a request in writing to the Dean, Counseling Services within five (5) days of notice of intent to revoke, and this action will temporarily suspend the proposed revocation. The petition will be reviewed by the Dean of Students Services or a designee who will conduct a conference if requested by the students and will issue a final decision within five (5) days of receipt of the petition, at which point privileges may be revoked. Following the conference, the student may within five (5) days demand a hearing challenging the revocation. The hearing and any appeal from it will be conducted by the Disciplinary Panel pursuant to Administrative Regulation 5401, Part V, but subject to the time limits set forth here. The Notice provided in Part A.A will be provided as soon as practicable. The hearing will commence within three (3) days of the student’s demand or a longer period of up to fifteen (15) days later if the student requests. The panel conducting the hearing on behalf of the College will reach a final decision within three (3) days after the conclusion of the hearing. The panel will issue a written decision explaining the evidence and the basis for its decision. Following exercise of any appeal rights pursuant to Administrative Regulation 5401, Part V, and the decision will be final. The student should contact the District within five (5) days thereafter if he or she intends to request judicial review. The student may waive the preliminary conference and proceed directly to a Disciplinary Hearing by providing notice to the Dean, Counseling Services. The administration may immediately revoke a student’s access to the electronic communications network in compelling circumstances, including to prevent the commission of illegal acts, to prevent harm to person or property, to prevent loss of significant evidence, or if the student continues willfully to refuse to abide by the District’s policy. The student may challenge immediate revocation pursuant to the foregoing procedures.
APPENDIX C:
Guidelines for Behavior Intervention & Resources for Consultation and Referral of Students

Hostility, verbal aggression, depression, isolation and withdrawal are key signals that should not be ignored. Disregarding early warning signs facilitates escalation. It is better to offend a student by "over-reacting" and apologize than to fail to act in the interest of everyone’s safety. Below are three categories of behavior and actions, which need attention and a response.

APPENDIX D:
Public Incident Reports in Advocate:
Referral for Student Code of Conduct Violation
(Walkthrough on Next Page)

The South Orange County Community College District Public Incident Report in Advocate is to be completed in the event that a student has violated one or more of the SOCCCD Standards of Student Conduct as stated in AR 5401. A summary of the General Provisions portion of AR 5401 is included in this Faculty Guide as Appendix A (beginning page 20).

Any faculty or staff member who encounters a student violating the Student Code of Conduct should

2. Complete the Public Incident Report
Utilizing ADVOCATE:
Online Student Discipline Reporting Form

Navigating to Advocate & Completing a Report:

1. On the IVC homepage, click on STUDENTS

2. In the STUDENTS menu, click Student Discipline Referral (Advocate)*

*To get to Advocate directly, visit: https://socccd-advocate.symplicity.com/public_report
3. Once you click the Student Discipline Referral (Advocate) link, you will be directed to this screen:

- From the drop-down menu, indicate if you are submitting a report as faculty/staff or student
- Then click “Submit”

4. You will be asked to log-in to the Public Incident Report with your IVC login:
5. You are now in Advocate’s web-based Public Incident Report. This new online report replaces the Referral for Student Conduct Violation form. On the first page of the form, you will provide your contact information and the type of violation (Student Code of Conduct Violation, Complaint, Grade Grievance, or Harassment). Depending on the type of complaint, you may be directed to a different website or form. Once you select Student Code of Conduct Violation, the rest of the form will open up for completion.
6. Below you will find the Advocate version of the Student Code of Conduct Violation form. Complete this form with as much detail as possible. At the bottom, you will be prompted to select between a “Formal” or “Informal” report. A formal report will require the student to meet with the Disciplinary Officer (Dr. Elizabeth L. Cipres, Dean of Counseling Services), an informal report is used for documenting purposes (in case of future incidents).

Formative vs Informal
- FORMAL: Student will be required to meet with the Disciplinary Officer.
- INFORMAL: For purpose of documenting in case behavior is repeated.

If the student has violated more than one item in the Student Code of Conduct, you may select them here. If there are not additional violations, please leave the first blank line selected, indicating that only one violation occurred.

Student name(s) and Student ID number(s) should go in this field. If you do not have definite identifying information, please submit an informal report, as formal reports require a meeting with the Discipline Officer, which can only be scheduled if the student is known.

Please attach any relevant documents here. This can include: pictures, emails, screenshots of messages, police reports, copies of plagiarized work, etc.

Formal vs Informal
- FORMAL: Student will be required to meet with the Disciplinary Officer.
- INFORMAL: For purpose of documenting in case behavior is repeated.

If the student’s identity is not known, please submit an informal report.
7. After you click “Submit”, you will receive an email confirmation to the email address used to complete the form:

![Email Confirmation]

After Submission:

If you selected Formal when submitting a form, the student will meet with the Discipline Officer (Dr. Elizabeth L. Cipres, Dean of Counseling Services).

Questions:

If you have any questions about the use of Advocate or Student Discipline, please contact:

Graciela Monter

Important Note:

IVC faculty and staff who are (a) filing a complaint against SOCCCD employees or (b) reporting a violation by SOCCCD employees should not submit reports through Advocate. These should be reported directly to District Human Resources: (949) 582-4850.
APPENDIX E: DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES

The following information on District disciplinary procedures is an abbreviated version of AR-5401. The full text of AR-5401 can be accessed on-line at the District website:

A. Initiation of the Disciplinary Process

A request for disciplinary action may be initiated in writing by district or college employees. When there is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct, the following procedures will be followed:

1. If the conduct occurred in the classroom, the instructor may remove the student from his or her class for that day and the next class meeting if the student interfered with the instructional process. Removal must be reported to the Dean, Counseling Services immediately. If the student is a threat to himself or herself or to others, the instructor must contact the Campus Police immediately. If the student removed is a dependent minor, the instructor may request that the student's parent or guardian attend a parent conference regarding the removal. During the period of the removal, the student shall not return to class from which he or she was removed without the concurrence of the instructor. Upon removal of a student, the instructor shall give the student verbal and/or written notice of the reasons for the removal.
   a. The instructor shall submit a Public Incident Report in Advocate.
   b. If the incident involves a matter of academic dishonesty, the instructor will give notice to the student within ten days of the discovery of the alleged impropriety.
   c. If the incident was not a matter of academic dishonesty, a meeting between the student and the Dean, Counseling Services, will be conducted as soon as possible. At this meeting, evidence of the alleged violation(s) will be presented to the student. The student will be advised of the potential consequences.
   d. If the student elects not to attend this required meeting, the student waives his or her right to provide a response to the allegations.
   e. The student may elect to drop the course, in accordance with existing policies, but this action will not necessarily terminate the process outlines above.

2. If the conduct did not occur in the classroom, the college employee discovering the conduct shall report the incident by completing a Public Incident Report in Advocate.

3. When the report of alleged misconduct is sent to the disciplinary officer, the officer will evaluate the information to determine if it alleges a violation of the District’s student conduct policy and/or regulations. If the disciplinary officer determines that the report supports such allegations, a meeting will be requested with the student to provide the student an opportunity to respond to the allegations.

4. The disciplinary officer will review all documentation related to the case to make a determination if disciplinary action is required.

5. The disciplinary officer will send a notice by mail to the student charged with the violation. This notice will include a written explanation of the incident and the charges that have been made (i.e., the specific conduct involved and the specific regulation(s) alleged to have been violated.

6. The disciplinary decision is final and it is immediately in effect unless it involves termination of State and/or local financial aid, suspension, or recommendation of expulsion, in which case the student may appeal the decision to the Disciplinary Hearing Panel within ten days. In cases referred to the Panel by the disciplinary officer or in cases where the decision is appealed to the Panel, the procedures in Section V will be followed. The student may, in writing, accept the penalty of suspension or expulsion without further hearing and without admitting participation in the conduct charged.
B. Range of Disciplinary Actions

1. Verbal reprimand: A warning that the conduct is not acceptable.

2. Written reprimand: Becomes part of the student file for a minimum of five years or longer at the discretion of the Dean, Counseling Services, and is considered in the event of future violations.

3. Mental health clearance: Mental health clearance may be required before a student is readmitted to a particular class or allowed to be on district property. The campus chief administrative officer (or designee) must receive a letter from a licensed mental health professional stating that in his or her professional judgment, the student will no longer continue the behavior which gave rise to the disciplinary action or that the student’s presence on campus is not a threat to himself or herself or others. The mental health professional must be licensed by the State of California. The student shall bear the cost and expense of obtaining mental health clearance.

4. Disciplinary Probation: A specific period of conditional participation in campus and academic affairs, which may involve any or all of the following:
   a. Ineligibility for all student government roles;
   b. Removal from any student government position;
   c. Revocation of the privilege of participating in college and/or student-sponsored activities;
   d. Ineligibility for membership on an athletic team;
   e. Limitation of courses and/or instructors the student may take;

5. Suspension: The Board of Trustees or the Vice President for Student Services may suspend a student for violation(s) of the Student Code of Conduct. Suspension will be accompanied by a hearing conducted by the Disciplinary Hearing Panel. Suspension may involve:
   a. Removal from one or more classes for the remainder of the school term.
   b. Removal from all classes and activities of the District and its colleges for one or more terms. During this time, the student may not be enrolled in any class or program within the District.

6. Expulsion: The Board of Trustees may expel a student for violation(s) of the Student Code of Conduct when other means of correction fail to bring about proper conduct or when the presence of the student causes a continuing danger to the physical safety of the student or others. Expulsion shall be accompanied by a hearing conducted by the Disciplinary Hearing Panel.

For information regarding the disciplinary hearing panels for suspension/expulsion and the appeal process for students undergoing disciplinary action, please refer to the full text of BP/AR 5401 (linked above).

APPENDIX H:
CRISIS MANAGEMENT AND RESPONSE TRAINING

There are a number of training and education opportunities in the area that will help you improve your response to a crisis situation.

City of Irvine Community Emergency Response Team (CERT)
The goal of the Irvine CERT program is to provide private citizens with the basic skills they will need to protect themselves, their family, and neighbors, and to respond to the immediate needs of the community in the aftermath of a disaster when emergency services are not readily available. By working together, CERT members can assist in saving lives and protecting property using the basic techniques in this course. Courses include: first aid and CPR; identify hazards in their community; work as a team to handle fire related emergency; basic search and rescue; and other emergency procedures.

To participate, call the Irvine CERT Program Coordinator: (949) 724-7054, or email: CERT@ci.irvine.ca.us

California Community College Student Mental Health Program (CCC SMHP)
Visit www.cccstudentmentalhealth.org for information about the CCC SMHP Program instituted October 2011. Currently, there are a number of upcoming training on topics including: Welcome Home: Veterans on Campus Training; Best Practices in Campus Threat Assessment Training; and The Gay Alliance SafeZone Training. Visit the website for dates and locations.

National Association of Student Affairs Administrators in Higher Education (NASPA) Mental Health Focus
The Mental Health Focus Area supports ongoing efforts to address the mental health issues that students face. As the stigma surrounding mental health continues to dwindle, student affairs practitioners will continually be facing and adapting to new challenges. NASPA provides support for those individuals in the form of specialized conference experiences, Knowledge Communities, and extensive research on the subject.

These trainings are made available to all California community colleges through the CCC Student Mental Health Program, a partnership between the Chancellor’s Office and the Foundation for California Community Colleges funded through a grant from the California Mental Health Services Authority (CalMHSA). CalMHSA is an organization of county governments working to improve mental health outcomes for individuals, families and communities.
